THE DAILY NEWS WISHES ITS MANY READERS A MERRY CHRISTMAS

NATION TO CELEBRATE ON ELABORATE SCALE

ATLANTA, GA., DEC. 24.—DISPATCHES FROM EVERY SECTION OF THE UNITED STATES TELL OF PREPARATIONS FOR CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION ON A GRAND SCALE, WITH MUNICIPALITIES, CIVIC BODIES, CHURCHES, AND LODGE ORGANIZATIONS READY TO DISTRIBUTE GENEROUS SUPPLIES OF FOOD AND CLOTHING AND FUEL TO THE NEEDY, AND TOYS TO THE CHILDREN OF THE LESS FORTUNATE POPULATION.

IN ATLANTA AND IN THE SOUTHEAST THERE HAS BEEN A GRADUAL BUT STEADY IMPROVEMENT IN BUSINESS, AND THE HOPEFUL OUTLOOK IS RESULTING IN REAL CHRISTMAS CHEER.

ALLIES PREPARING FOR TREMENDOUS ATTACK

PARIS, DEC. 24.—IT IS LEARNED FROM A RELIABLE SOURCE THAT THE BRITISH AND FRENCH ARE GATHERING THEIR ARMIES AND ARTILLERY FOR A TERRIFIC DRIVE AT BOTH ENDS OF THE 300-MILE GERMAN BATTLE LINE EARLY IN JANUARY. GUNS EQUALING THE LATEST KRUPPS ARE BEING RUSHED TO FLANDERS.

SUPREME COURT HAS AFFIRMED CASE OF GOVE VS. NAUTILUS

OPINION HANDED DOWN WEDNESDAY SUSTAINING JUDGMENT OF THE CIRCUIT COURT—HARD FOUGHT CASE.

The case of S. H. Gove against the Nautilus Hotel company, with its many ramifications, which was tried before Judge Perkins of the circuit court last summer, and a judgment rendered against Mr. Gove, was affirmed by the supreme court Wednesday.

The case, as originally instituted, was an action by T. F. Williams, as trustee, against the hotel company to foreclose the bond mortgage. S. H. Gove intervened with a mechanic's lien and the testimony was voluminous.

The property involved was what is now known as the Nautilus casino at Seabreeze. The property was sold at master's sale to Judge Bert Fish, who in turn disposed of it to Michael Shatz.

The case was appealed to the supreme court by Isaac A. Stewart, solicitor for Mr. Gove, and was argued before that tribunal some time ago, but the decision affirming the judgment of the lower court was not handed down until Wednesday.

A. W. Scoville, proprietor of the Red Bus line, arrived Wednesday evening from Hartford, Conn., accompanied by his family. Mr. Scoville drove through Jacksonville with the three buses which will be used here this season and says the road is in bad condition. The buses will not be put into immediate use, but Mr. Scoville proposes a little later to establish a run to New Smyrna and a half-hour service between this city and Ormond.

"With a happy heart"

We extend all a Merry Xmas, not because it is customary, but from a sincere appreciation of what the trade here has made possible for us.

PETROGRAD, DEC. 24 (OFFICIAL).—SLEDGEHAMMER DRIVES OF THE AUSTRO-GERMAN FORCES ALONG A 200-MILE BATTLE FRONT IN POLAND HAVE AT NO POINT PIERCED THE RUSSIAN LINES. OPERATIONS HAVE BEEN ARRANGED TO PROGRESS ACCORDING TO RUSSIAN PLANS. WHOM WILL GOVERNOR APPOINT JUSTICE?

G. W. RICH OF KINGSTON AFTER THE OFFICE—M. G. ROWE WILL ACCEPT IT, 'TIS SAID—PETITION CIRCULATED.

The death of the late M. H. Zuber left the office of justice of the peace for the eighth district of Volusia county vacant, and Governor Trammell will appoint some one to the office in the near future, in all probability.

G. W. Rich, of Kingston, has a petition in circulation asking that he be appointed to the office.

M. G. Rowe, the manager of the local telephone company, and a practicing lawyer, will accept the office, it is understood, and a number of business men have already written Governor Trammell suggesting the appointment of Mr. Rowe.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis, of Louisville, Ky., who are occupying for the season the Seaside bungalow at Daytona Beach, have with them for the holidays their son and daughter, Miss Martha and Landon Davis, who are accompanied by their friends, Miss Cook and Morris Smith.

PALMER KNEW THAT HE KNEW HIS OWN PEOPLE

LONDON, Dec. 24.—Frederick Palmer, the famous war correspondent, who has been in London ever since the outbreak of the war, waiting to go to the front for the American news papers, was discussing the gagging policy of the war offices with one of the foremost members of the Opposition, a former cabinet member. "But what England wants is recruits, isn't it?" asked Palmer after the statesman for the twentieth time had insisted that the ways of the war office were not always readily to be understood. "Quite so," assented the statesman. "Well," said Palmer, "I can't speak for your British public, but I do know

The police had all they could do to keep the crowd back from the machine, and many could not get near enough the event to get even a glimpse of the uncanny exhibition.

The Great Morton uses no trough or other protection, and allowed the officers to examine him to see that he wore no protecting garments, whatever. When he was ready he reposed gracefully on a carpet in the street, and the big car, driven by Paul Randall of the San Juan garage, did the bumpety-bumps while the crowd held its breath, and several women seriously considered fainting. The Great Morton is the feature of the vaudeville bill at the New Daytona theater all this week, doing many tricks involving strength and daring. Program is changed daily. A special Christmas matinee has been arranged, and each child present will receive a present from the big tree. After the performance Christmas evening there will be free dancing with refreshments. Tonight is amateur night and already a number have entered, among them the well-known local female impersonator, Mr. Kolle. Cash prizes will be offered.

LONDON'S NEW "FREAK" WAYS
LOOK FOOLISH TO OUTSIDERS

As usual in the case of any innovation settled in a country as characteristically English, the new order of things has created any number of amusing incongruities. Traveling on suburban railways, for instance, are now commanded to "lower the blinds after nightfall." The printed notices are pasted on the windows of all the carriages of all classes. But as it happens only two-thirds of the suburban traffic is carried in third-class carriages the result is obvious. Trains leave the many stations in London every evening now with a few of the carriages carefully shrouded in darkness but with the rest blazing forth light through their shadeless panes.

But, after all, this applies only to third-class carriages.

The countryside between London and the east coast is also as dark as London itself after nightfall. Motorists, even those fairly familiar with the main highways, find a trip abroad after darkfall a thing of frequent stops while matches are lighted and landmarks located.

And meantime, the searchlights stationed on top of some of the most noted structures in London continue to sweep the heavens from dusk until dawn—to tell the German commander of a Zeppelin exactly where he is if he ever gets close enough to get sight of them.

RECORD NOTES THIS PAST AND

AND THE SOUTH.

That past winter showed the Floridian, especially those staying at hotels, the cost of the Manufactured garment, referred to in a recent issue in this title of winter resort that there are more reasons to go to Florida and the winter months of the country than the summer months.

There are no longer times like the old days.

Manufacturers increase the prices of Persons desirous of learning to fly may register, on this occasion, at the office of the school on the beach. This exhibition is given absolutely free by Miss Law as a testimonial of her appreciation of the generous patronage extended to her by the business men of Daytona, Daytona Beach and Seabreeze.

WINTER RESORTERS TURN THEIR EYES TOWARDS FLORIDA

BALTIMORE MANUFACTURERS' RECORD NOTES THE FACT AND
SOUNDS PAEAN TO FLORIDA
AND THE SOUTH.

That most astute observer of things material, especially those things affecting the south, the Manufacturers' Record, referred in a recent issue to the tide of winter travel that is flowing this season to Florida and the southern section of the country. Following is an excerpt from the Record's story:

Southward moves the invading army of winter tourists.

Every blizzard that sweeps across the plains of the west or stalls railroad trains in the snow blockades of New England and Colorado, whistles with its driving fury: "Go south." Every orange tree, every grape fruit grove—yea, every pine tree of the South as it sends forth its perfume, every mocking bird that sings its love song—sends forth a call: "Come South." The ever swelling chorus is heard by an ever increasing audience. With one ear they listen to the roar of the wintry blasts and shiver as the biting cold touches every weak spot; with the other ear they catch the music of all nature as it sings of joy in the buoyancy of youth that comes from drinking in the southern air, more life-giving than the famed spring for which Ponce de Leon searched in vain. He found not that for which he looked because he realized not that the very air he breathed was the youth-perpetuating fountain of eternal joy to generation after generation.

As the men and women of the north and west look out upon the ice-bound regions where life is hard and suffering for many months severe, their thoughts turn longingly to that other picture where outdoor life is possible amid the tall rock-ribbed pines, with their waving plumes, and their life-invigorating odor, or in orange groves whose budding blossoms fill the air with their sweet perfume as they charm the eye with their beauty while the rich yellow fruit still burdens the tree and to them there comes an irresistible desire to start on the southward journey. As the South is the nation's greatest asset when measured by its limitless resources for national enrichment, so this winter tourist business is one of the South's greatest assets from whatever viewpoint it may be studied.

The tourist is more than a mere traveler for health or pleasure, more than a liberal money spender. He is a country upholder. Henry Flagler was tourist, and because of that fact he finally spent more than $50,000,000 in Florida. Few others could spend so much, but thousands have in the aggregate spent many times as much. Splendid winter homes, beautiful grounds, active work of upbuilding, heavy investments in a variety of enterprises are few of the easily seen evidences that have marked the trail of the tourist army wherever it has marched through the land.

BULGAR FOUGHT FRENCHMAN;
NOW FIGHT FOR FRANCE

PARIS, Dec. 24.—Shortly before the war broke out a Bulgarian officer named Foroom challenged the famous sailor-author, Pierre Loti, to mortal combat for having insulted Bulgaria by his writings on the late Balkan campaign. George Breitmayer, one of the most brilliant of French fencers, took up the challenge, with the result that Lieutenant Foroom was wounded in the breast. Notwithstanding his wounded bosom and his restored honor, the gallant Bulgarian officer shouted as he left the field, "Vive la France," and "Vive l'honneur."

The lieutenant has since confirmed his words by deeds. Unable, as he wished, to take service under the tricolor, he has enlisted in the Russian army. He now writes to friends in Paris:

"Please tell my friends in France that the little Bulgarian Lieutenant, who came to Paris last year to defend his own honor and that of his comrades, sword in hand, is now happy in his opportunity to die for France."

BLODGETT PARTY TO SPEND CHRISTMAS DAY IN COCOA

Mrs. C. G. Matthews, who is here with her sister, Mrs. D. A. Blodgett, went down to Cocoa Wednesday afternoon to spend Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Porcher. Mrs. Blodgett and daughters were also to go to Cocoa at the same time, but owing to the temporary indisposition of Miss Mona Blodgett, who had contracted a cold, their departure for Cocoa was deferred until today. Delos A. Blodgett and his friend, W. C. Bowen, motored to Cocoa Wednesday afternoon, where they will all be with Mr. Porcher and family until their return to this city next Saturday.

REV. H. E. PARTRIDGE
REMOVES TO CITRA

Mrs. H. E. Partridge and daughter, Miss Morton Partridge, left Wednesday afternoon for Palatka, where Mr. Partridge joined them this morning to continue to Citra, to which place he was appointed at the recent annual conference of the M. E. church South. Miss Partridge will return to Daytona after the holidays to resume her position as a teacher in the public school. Mr. Partridge, during his pastorate of the Kingston church, made many warm friends in this section.

SERVICES CHRISTMAS DAY AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH

The Rt. Rev. F. A. McElwain, D. D., of Faribault, Minn., will conduct services at St. Mary's Episcopal church tomorrow morning at 10:00 o'clock. There will be an offertory solo by Mrs. W. E. Hitchcock, of Minneapolis, Minn., who is a guest at the Magnolia hotel, and there will be special music by the choir, which is composed of Mrs. C. C. Bohannon, Mrs. M. P. Cornwall, W. J. McDonald, R. L. Evernden and M. P. Cornwall.

Bishop McElwain will also preside at the services next Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock.

William Yelvington has been suffering for some time with a bone felon on the index finger of his left hand, but thinks he is now through the worst of it and the finger improving.

ALLANDALE CLUB TO OPEN CHRISTMAS NIGHT

The club house at Allendale will be formally opened by a dance, which the young people will give Christmas night. Several couples from Daytona are going to attend; in fact the Daytona young people are getting up the dance. The New Daytona Theater orchestra will furnish the music. A crowd from New Smyrna has signified their intention of being present, as have many of the young people of Port Orange.

NEW M. E. CHURCH PASTOR ESTABLISHED AT KINGSTON

Rev. W. J. Neese, the new pastor of the Kingston M. E. church, arrived Wednesday afternoon from Citra, accompanied by his wife and little daughter, and they are now installed in the church parsonage. They were met at the depot by a delegation from the church and given a hearty welcome when they reached Kingston, where an appetizing dinner awaited their arrival.

SNIDER ESTATE STILL UNDER LITIGATION

WILL OF THE LATE "CATSUP KING" SUBJECT OF MUCH LITI- GATION IN DOMINION OF CAN- ADA.

The following article from a recent issue of the Cincinnati Times-Star will be of interest to many who knew T. A. Snider during his residence in Daytona.

"Friends of the late T. A. Snider, who established the preserve company of that name in this city, have received word from Toronto, Canada, announcing that the courts there have decided against John E. Snider, in his suit for $10,000 out of the estate.

"Snider met a tragic death while on his honeymoon with Mrs. Crissie Jones Stanton Snider, his bride of but a week. Mrs. Snider was his fourth wife, and was a niece of one of his former wives. She was divorced from Stanton, and had one daughter, Miss Ethel Stanton. On June 6, 1912, Snider added a codicil to his will, giving his new wife $50,000 outright and the residue of his estate, and also providing for his step-daughter-in-law. The balance of the estate went to brothers and sisters, nephews and nieces, with $50,000 to the Methodist church.

"On June 17, following, Snider, who had sold his holdings in the Snider Preserving company, was touring in an automobile with his new wife, when at a railroad crossing near Erie, Penn., a train struck their machine, fatally injuring both. Mrs. Snider, however, lived ten minutes after her husband died, which validated her interest in his estate, and this went to her daughter. One bequest in the will, however, was $10,000 to his brother, John E. Snider, of Toronto, to cancel a note for $10,000. After the death it developed that Snider had visited his brother in Toronto with his new wife, and there had told the brother of the bequest. He then decided that he wanted to do more for his brother, and so gave him two more notes for $5,000 each, payable after his death, which were to cancel the $10,000 note his brother gave him, thus leaving him the $10,000 bequest.

Under the will former Judge Charles F. Malsbary, of this city, and the Central Trust and Safe Deposit company were named as executors, and they fought against the claims of John E. Snider. Judge Malsbary and Attorney W. J. Elliott, of Toronto, represented the estate at the trial, and word has now reached here that the Toronto court has decided the notes given by T. A. Snider to his brother, John E. Snider, were of no value, as they could not be made collectible after death. The court, however, recommended that the various legatees get together and make up the $10,000 to John E. Snider.

"There is considerable more litigation now on over the estate, which involves property worth about $92,000 in Canada, and if this results in favor of the estate it is expected that Miss Stanton will receive between $20,000 and $25,000 as the residuary estate. She is expected to be in this city to visit relatives and friends during the holidays."

IS ENGLISH QUEEN TO BLAME FOR LONDON'S DARKNESS?

LONDON, Dec. 24.—Although London generally has yet to discover what individual or branch of the government is responsible for the idea of plunging the city into stygian gloom, rumor is busy these days attributing it to Queen Mary. As a matter of military knowledge extinguishing street lights and shading all others would have little actual bearing on the havoc that might be worked if a fleet of Zeppelins should appear. It seems beyond the war office to be so ignorant of the depressing effect this darkness has on the public to have issued the order for an "moral effect."

The rumor, then, that it is solely the result of the queen's terror of the possibility of a bomb lighting on Buckingham palace that London is a veritable city of night has gained more than ordinary credence. There seems to be no other possible explanation for it.

THE WEATHER.

There is justification for the expectancy that Christmas day in Daytona will be bright and reasonably free from liquid precipitation—meaning, of course, the outdoor and "strictly temperance" variety of precipitation. The official weather prognosticator sends the following greetings: Generally fair tonight and Friday, except probably rain in the northern portion of the state. Fresh east winds.

COHEN BROS. WILL SUPPLY PAPERS HERE FROM VARIOUS NATIONS AND IN NUMEROUS TONGUES.

GEORGIA'S GOVERNOR-ELECT HERE FOR THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS

JUDGE NAT E. HARRIS ARRIVED IN DAYTONA TO SPEND BRIEF YULETIDE PERIOD WITH MRS. HARRIS.

Hon. Nat E. Harris, governor-elect of Georgia, arrived in the city from Macon, to spend the Christmas holidays at Seabreeze with Mrs. Harris, who came down some time ago. They have a place on Palmetto avenue in Seabreeze.

Judge Harris has been coming to Daytona for a number of years, and discussing the fact with a representative of this paper, said that each succeeding season tends to increase his appreciation of this locality.

In one of the hardest-fought campaigns that state has seen in many years, the distinguished visitor was, last August, the successful aspirant for the democratic nomination as governor of Georgia. Although opposed by two very popular and able men, Judge Harris emerged from the contest with a safe margin of popular and county-unit votes. The democratic nomination, which is equivalent to election in Georgia, formally ratified the primary result, last month, and the governor-elect will be inaugurated next June. He succeeds John M. Slaton, who was also a candidate in the same primary for United States senator.

Judge Harris stated that he has, for a number of years, derived genuine pleasure from reading the Gazette News and the Daily News.

Charles E. Luther, who returned to Daytona last week from Providence, R. I., accompanied by his wife and young sons, has opened his hotel, the Flagler, on North Beach street for the season. Mr. Luther, who is a nephew of Mrs. Margaret Maynard, has been engaged in the restaurant business in Providence during the summer. Mr. Luther was in Daytona with his family for a short time last spring, coming here from Jacksonville before going north for the summer.
